COUNTS OWN PENNIES

Pasadena, Calif.- When Benny Bowen walked into municipal court carrying a 40-pound sack of pennies to pay a $58 traffic fine, the judge who had found Bowen, 21, guilty of speeding and drag-racing, told Bowen to count his own pennies. Several hours later, he paid up with pennies neatly counted in envelopes.

One advantage of owning your own book, is that you feel free to make pencil notations on the margins of pages. And if you write in very many notations, you hestitate to loan out the book. Of late, I have fallen into the practice of reading a book straight through at one sitting. Do not have as much time as I would like for reading, but I average four books per week, in addition to my other reading.

SMART BOY

Lawrence, Mass.- Although only ten years old, Phillip Kochman solved the vexing problem of holding a hand-operated egg-beater firm by inventing a suction cup that may be attached to the base of the beater. Another of his inventions is a household utility tool that serves as a spoon, a pickle fork and a lifter of milk bottle tops.

Have More Money

Consumers have more money in their pockets this year than last, say representatives of the Agricultural Marketing Service. And the consumers are spending five per cent more for food. Continued expansion in economic activity is expected to raise consumer income further in the coming months.

Farm Population

The farm population of the United States has been decreasing about 600,000 a year since 1949. Farmers who have remained on the land have achieved record - breaking harvests on about the same acreages and with 30 per cent less labor.

NEW BOOK IN COUNTY LIBRARY

The Nun's Story, by Kathryn Hulme.

This book actually happened. It is the true story of a dedicated nun who withdrew from her order after years of inner conflict—not because she was less devout but because she felt she had failed in her vow of obedience. In her deepest heart Sister Luke felt that she was less nun than nurse. Today she is a supervisor of nurses in a Los Angeles hospital. In The Nun's Story, Kathryn Hulme, whose previous book, The Wild Place, was awarded the Atlantic Prize, takes you behind cloister walls with Sister Luke —tells of her arduous training as a nun and nurse, her terrifying period of service in a Belgian asylum for the insane. When her dream of working in a hospital in the Congo came true Sister Luke, absorbed in her work, found herself wavering as a nun. But it was not until her shattering war years in occupied Belgium that she felt constrained to make the most difficult decision of her life.

NEWCOMB - EVANS

The wedding of Miss Anne Elizabeth Evans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Jessie Evans, of Appomattox, and Wesley Clay Newcomb, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Clay Newcomb, of Lynchburg, took place at 4 o'clock Sunday, in the home of the officiating minister, Dr. Carl A. Collins, Jr.

The double ring ceremony was performed in the presence of the two immediate families and a few close friends.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a brown suit with beige accessories and a white orchid corsage.

Mrs. Jerry A. George was matron of honor and wore a gold sheath dress with talisman roses. Mr. Newcomb was his son's best man.

Both the bride and bridegroom were graduated from Appomattox High School. The bridegroom is now serving in the United Sates Air Force and has just completed a Communications Specialist Course at Francis E. Warren Air Force Base, Wyoming. After a short wedding trip, the groom will report to Scott Air Force Base, Illinois, for further schooling. The bride plans to join him in the near future.
